

Jump To Specific Location In QL2 Reports

Do you always find yourself scrolling to a specific location within report documents every time you create or open a report? For instance, many subscribers have intro content in their report templates that consists of boilerplate text where pagination is permanently set and requires no editing. They end up scrolling past all of that content each time a report is created so that they can begin setting the pagination at the first item. In QL2, we can save all of that scrolling! Just contact us and we can set a “jump-to” location wherever you want within your report templates. When a report opens it will jump directly to the designated spot, thereby avoiding scrolling. Here is a short video that shows how this in action....

The screenshot displays the QL2 report creation interface. At the top, the worksheet is identified as "Worksheet 1005" with a "Manage Groups..." button. The client information is "Client Name: Crawford, Mrs. Betty" with "set active records" and "edit..." options. The total value is "Total $17,645.00" with "Allow Logout" and "Help" buttons. A "Save Worksheet" button is prominent. Below this, there are tabs for "Existing Reports" and "New Report".

The main form area includes fields for "Report Addressee" (set to "Client"), "Report Type" (set to "Primary"), "Template" (set to "Insurance Appraisal"), and "Report Date" (set to "06/27/2023"). A "Create Report" button is located to the right of the "Report Date" field. Below these fields are sections for "Appendix Selections" (with "GIA Colored Gem Color Grading" selected), "Works Consulted Selections" (with "Gems" selected), and "Report Insert Selections".

A large red video player overlay is centered on the "Works Consulted Selections" section. Below the main form, there are tabs for "Custom Fields", "Report Endorser", and "Metal Prices". The bottom section contains various input fields and date pickers:
